

Openwave Mobility at MWC Barcelona 2019

By The Mobile Network 5 March 2019

"If you don't have a strategy for mobile video, you don't have a strategy."

<http://the-mobile-network.com/2019/03/openwave-mobility-at-mobile-world-congress-2019/>

A year after Openwave Mobility's acquisition by ENEA, CEO John Giere updates on the company's progress and the main challenges facing its service provider customers.

The business now has contracts with eight of the top ten global mobile network operators, and is assisting them in the transition to cloud native operations and readiness for 5G.

That's partly why the company has taken the innovative step to form the Mobile Video Industry Council to help operators share knowledge and information with each other on how they handle video content on the network and in the business.