

Software Developer Manager

Enea Openwave (formerly Openwave Mobility) develops the next generation of mobile internet technologies used by major mobile providers globally! We use cutting-edge mobile technology in the areas of 5G data and traffic management and you will work closely with development managers, system architects, developers and niche QA professionals to delivery high quality, highly performant, low latency solutions.

The Belfast office plays a pivotal role in the delivery of both the Traffic Management and Cloud Data Management solutions, and we are currently seeking an experienced Technical Manager to own delivery for one or more scrum teams in the Cloud Data Management product suite.

This is a critical role providing significant visibility across the organization.

Responsibilities and Tasks

- Manage multiple scrum teams to ensure high quality, on time delivery of software releases
- Maintain a solid technical understanding of the delivery to ensure technical direction is aligned with project goals
- Provide technical mentoring and metric driven reporting
- Drive improvements in the overall software delivery process

Essential Criteria

- Minimum 2:1 BSc degree in Computer Science, Engineering or equivalent relevant to Software Engineering
- At least 4 years in leading a software development team
- Demonstrable hands-on experience in a Software Engineering role on client/server type applications
- Demonstrable experience in driving continuous improvement initiatives
- Excellent communication skills – both verbal and written

Desirable Criteria

- Experience working in a DevOps/CICD type environment
- Experience working in an Agile environment (Scrum, Kanban, XP)
- Experience in database technologies or data management
- Experience working directly with customers or with support/professional services teams to deliver solutions and critical fixes

Company Benefits include:

- Group pension plan with employer contributions
- Full sick pay for up to 26 weeks
- Private medical - family cover

- Permanent health insurance: Market leading 75% salary in the event of prolonged or serious illness
- Death in service benefit – 3x salary
- Annual bonus plan
- Cycle to work
- Subsidised social event
- Subsidised car parking

Please apply by sending an up-to-date CV, detailing how you meet the essential criteria for this role, to: Caroline.Cunningham@enea.com.
